Welcome to 2020!

As we kick off this milestone year, I am so excited about our vision for HUB. You may have noticed that we dropped the word pen from our name, we made that change because the name Hub has been synonymous with great writing instruments for many years, and this year, we plan to surprise you with some new product categories in addition to our beloved pens.

I'm excited about our new gorgeous, modern website filled with products, images, and tools to help you delight your customers. I am excited by our expanded space and newly remodeled offices that will allow us to decorate products from our sister companies, and to host you for productive meetings in our showroom. I am incredibly excited about our new products that you will find in the pages that follow, products that include a digitally imprinted pen and box that is so artfully created that you won't know where the pen ends, and the box begins. I am the MOST excited because of you, our wonderful customers who have honored us as the #1 writing instrument in the industry year after year.

I promise that as you look through our new product selection and our bestsellers that you will find not only new favorites but the impeccable Hub quality that has been a tradition for over 60 years. A tradition, we plan to continue for the years to come.

Color There is no limit on number of colors. Gradients or transitional colors are acceptable provided they are not over saturated.

Color Control Our color print process uses standard CMYK colors to make the spectrum. Every printed color is made up of percentages of cyan, magenta, yellow and black. We do not use actual Pantone color inks. PMS colors are matched by using the CMYK process and are reasonably accurate. But due to the nature of the process, matched colors can appear different than actual spot colors.

Pen Colors Choose pen colors that complement the imprint to avoid issues with contrast and readability. White barrel pens offer the best canvas to work with. Choose the right combination of pen color and imprint colors to achieve the highest contrast for optimum readability.

Decoration Location Catalog representation of imprint location is approximate. Final printed product may show variation in actual location.
